Murder Is Least Punished Offense Among Arkansans

Local Political Control of Law Enforcement Is Blamed

MURGER IS NEEDED

Centralized Responsibility Would Spur Criminal Investigation

LITTLE ROCK—Law enforcement conditions and an influx of criminals into this state from other large population centers were declared Wednesday to be two major factors in the 17.6 per 100,000 murder rate for Arkansas as revealed by Department of Justice records.

Carl Bailey, Pulaski county prosecuting attorney and state attorney general-elect, indicated that murder drew the least punishment of any felony in the state, while Attorney General Walter L. Pope recited a prediction made eight years ago when he was a circuit judge that an influx of criminals into the state would necessitate increased vigilance by law enforcement officials.

E. E. Conroy, agent in charge of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice here, made no comment concerning the causes of the rate, but explained how it was arrived at.

Hal L. Norwood, until recently attorney general, expressed the opinion that there should be a "closed season" on homicides so the population might relax its vigilance temporarily. However, he said it is not the fault of the courts that the rate is so high.

"I would rather take a chance on murder than any other crime in Arkansas," Prosecutor Bailey declared when asked to comment on the statistics, which showed that from January through June of this year, there were only 48 murders per 100,000 in the country as a whole.

"Conviction on charges of larceny and burglary is much more certain under present law enforcement conditions than on a charge of murder," Mr. Bailey said. "The high rate of homicides in Arkansas is due in a large measure to prevailing law enforcement conditions, and correction of these conditions would necessitate a complete revision of the law enforcement structure which could be effected only through a constitutional amendment."

Mr. Bailey said that the law enforcement agencies of the federal government, operating under direct supervision of the United States attorney general, admittedly are far more efficient than state and local law enforcement officers, and that this is due to the centralization of authority and responsibility under one head.

"The state law enforcement problem is exactly analogous to that of the federal government," he added, "and if we were to give it the same intelligent treatment as that adopted by the national government there would be a very marked improvement in crime conditions in this state."

Centralized Responsibility
All police enforcement officers for the state, counties, municipalities and other subdivisions should be employed by and directly responsible to the state attorney general, just as the en-

Malvern Is Last Night Opponent of Bobcats, Thursday

Kick-Off Thursday Night Is to Be at 7:30 instead of 8

LITTLE ROCK NEXT

But Capital City Eleven Will Play Saturday Afternoon, Nov. 24

Hope football fans will see the Bobcats under the flood lights for the first time this season when the team lines up for the opening kickoff against Malvern High School here Thursday night. The Bobcats play another home game, but that one is scheduled against Little Rock Saturday afternoon, November 24.

The price of admission for the Hope-Malvern game has been reduced from 50 to 25 cents for adults. Persons holding season tickets will be admitted for 25 cents. Students with season tickets will be admitted free.

Starting time, due to cooler weather, has been moved up half an hour. The kickoff is slated for 7:30 p. m. Although the Bobcats are top-heavy favorites, the score may be small because Coach Hammond is seeking to use the forward pass for most of the Bobcat scoring plays.

The hard driving attack, which has bowled over six teams this season, will be incidental in the Malvern game unless the Bobcats run up against stiffer competition than expected.

Malvern has an unimpressive record so far this season. Last week the Leopards took a 66 to 0 beating from Nashville. Two of their best players, including the captain, were out of the game because of injuries.

The starting lineups were not announced.

Philippines Raked by Fierce Typhoon

Manila Escapes, Rest of Island Damaged—4 Drowned

MANILA, P. I.—(AP)—Four fishermen were reported drowned off Samar island in first accounts Thursday of the casualties in a devastating typhoon.

Estimates placed the homeless at 20,000 in the town of Naga. Red Cross relief workers prepared to leave for the sections hardest hit by the storm.

Broken communication lines prevented a check of the damage in the provinces where the most violent typhoon of the year struck.

Manila Escapes
MANILA, P. I.—(AP)—The Philippines were lashed by a typhoon of great destructive power Thursday.

Manila apparently escaped the full force of the tempest but heavy damage and loss of life probably occurred in the southeastern part of Luzon island.

Most violent thus far of the storms raking the capital and nearby provinces in recent years, the new disturbance leveled communication lines. Buildings, crops and shipping in southeastern Luzon, the island on which Manila is located, were badly hit.

The American oil tanker Larry Doherty, which nearly foundered in the Pacific during the terrific storm of three weeks ago, sailed from Manila for Los Angeles only Wednesday and presumably was in or near the affected area.

PWA May Reduce Grade Crossings

Transcontinental Highway, Rural Electricity, Are Other Projects

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Expansion of the public works program, designed eventually to absorb all direct relief rolls, was strongly hinted Wednesday by Secretary Ickes.

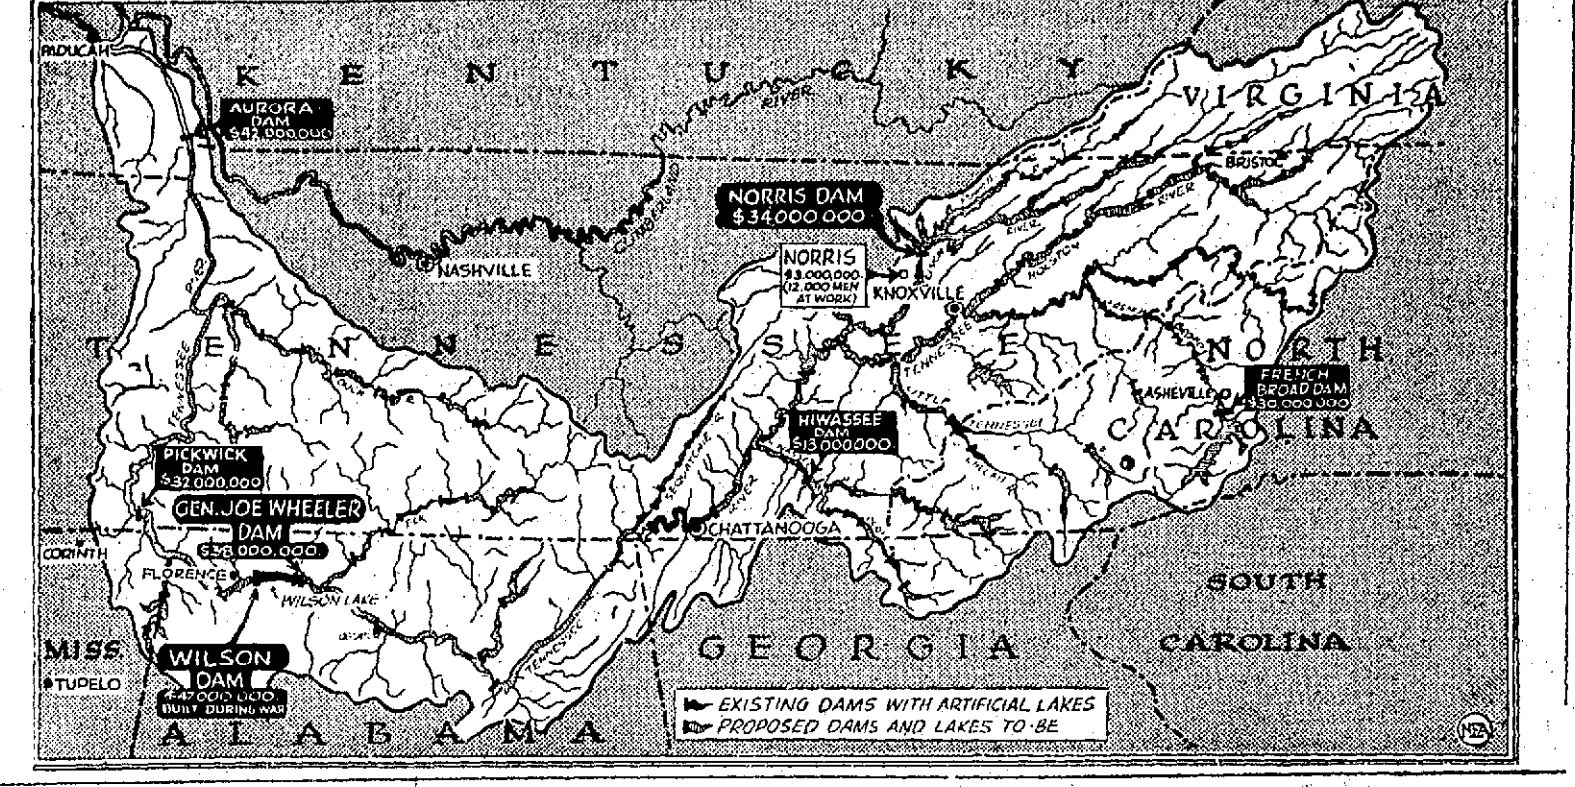

Ickes put into words what many have considered a major trend in the administration's efforts. He left a strong implication that new billions would be asked for the current issue of the magazine Today, he said.

"Careful studies of a practical nature are now being made of the possibility of still further enlarging the public works program in a renewed drive against the depression, in a continued effort to take men from relief and put them into industry."

Ickes outlined three major fields into which funds running "into billions of dollars" could be poured. First he mentioned a program of rural electrification and elimination of

Roosevelt Will See Tennessee Valley Power Projects on His Tour Thursday

Key points in the mammoth Tennessee valley project of the New Deal are shown in the map above.

By JOHN T. MOUTOUX
Written for NEA Service

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—You don't have to be a dreamer to visualize what the Tennessee Valley Authority, given the time and the money, will do for the Tennessee valley. The program of "national planning for a complete watershed" as outlined by President Roosevelt is definitely under way.

Whether the whole program will be carried out depends, the people of the valley believe, on what the voters of the country do in the presidential election of 1936. For the program can't be completed during the remaining two years of Mr. Roosevelt's present term, and will have to carry over into the next administration.

If carried out, this is what the TVA program will do for the Tennessee valley: Bring cheap electricity to the whole valley. Now 95 per cent of the farm homes have no electricity. The presence of the TVA with its power yardstick has already resulted in rate cuts to private companies of around 20 per cent, but TVA rates are still 30 to 50 per cent lower than that.

Sweeping Changes Loom
Bring new industries to the valley, especially chemical and metallurgical plants, which by reason of cheap electric power will be able to utilize low grade ores found in the valley.

Make the Tennessee River navigable the full 650 miles of its length, resulting in cheap water transportation. Put an end to destructive floods. Rehabilitate millions of acres of run-down land by stopping soil erosion, putting a part of the land in forest and the rest in crops that will restore the washed-away humus and top soil.

Land-destroying cotton will be replaced by livestock and landbuilding crops. Fill the valley with co-operatives of all sorts, beneficial alike to consumer and producer, but hard on the middle man.

Generally, increase the income of the people of the valley, bring most of their conveniences they never had before, and make living in the Tennessee Valley pleasant.

Cost Unknown
Naturally the question arises, what will it all cost and how will it pay out? It is a question that cannot now be answered.

Chairman A. E. Morgan, pressed for an answer by a persistent congressman at a hearing before a House committee last spring, said the dams and distribution lines might cost around $300,000,000, and that distribution systems might pay out in 25 years. But he insisted it was only an estimate.

Army engineers, in their last report—which preceded creation of the TVA—estimated it would cost a billion dollars to build all the dams necessary for flood control, navigation and production of the maximum amount of power.

The total cost naturally depends on how many dams the TVA builds, and the TVA has no way of knowing now how much more money it will be given.

To date there have been two appropriations, totaling $98,000,000. It has two dams under way, a third about ready to start.

If the river is fully developed, it will yield about a million horsepower of prime or year-round power and about a similar amount of dump or

Louisiana Couple Hit Loose Gravel on Lewisville Rd.

Mrs. I. W. Pickenson, Mansfield, La., Seriously Injured

HUSBAND IS HURT

Returning From Nashville, Ark., Their Car Goes Off Highway

Two persons were injured, one seriously, when their automobile struck loose gravel and overturned several times on the Hope-Lewisville highway about 11 o'clock Thursday morning.

The injured, Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Pickenson of Mansfield, La., were brought to Julia Chesser hospital here. The condition of Mrs. Pickenson was described as serious. She is suffering from internal injuries and severe shock. Mr. Pickenson sustained laceration about the face and hands.

The Pickensons, an elderly couple, were returning to their Louisiana home from a trip to Nashville, Ark.

A Hope Furniture company ambulance went to the scene of the accident, but the injured couple had been placed in a private car and were en route to Hope.

The Pickenson automobile was badly damaged. The accident occurred several miles south of Hope.

Wallace Neutral on Bankhead Vote

Secretary Says Cobb and Johnson Speak Only for Themselves

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Secretary Wallace, avowedly seeking to maintain administration neutrality, Wednesday disclaimed responsibility for a plea by Cully A. Cobb, head of the AAA cotton section, urging retention of the Bankhead cotton control bill.

A ballot will be held within a month. All producers of cotton are eligible to vote as to whether the Bankhead act, first compulsory cotton control measure passed by congress, shall be continued another year or scrapped. The legislation will be discarded unless two-thirds of the cotton growers favor it.

Secretary Wallace said several days ago that neither he nor the AAA would attempt to influence the election. Cobb, in a speech Thursday at Shelby, N. C., felt that unless the Bankhead bill continued there

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. MORRIS FISHER
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygieia, the Health Magazine

Silence and Darkness Essential To Sleep

Everybody knows that sleep is necessary for the human body. It is the time when the cells recuperate from the wear and tear that goes on during the day.

People fail, however, to realize that two of the most necessary factors to sound sleep are exceedingly hard to get in these modern times. One of them is darkness and the other quiet.

So widespread is the use of artificial light for all sorts of purposes, that it is exceedingly difficult to obtain places for sleep in which there is complete darkness. Even a ray of light may in some cases serve as an irritating stimulus to awakening.

Quiet is even more difficult to secure because of the motor car and the radio. We have in this country one motor car for every 4 to 5 people, and at least one radio for every family.

Because of the way in which our large cities are constructed, the rattling of the car on the street and the sounds of the radio in adjacent apartments and homes are factors which keep people awake. In addition, there are the noises from the railroad tracks, elevated trains and of steamers when homes are near navigable waters.

Besides the irritations which come from these sources of noise, there are conditions which have to be overcome, such as the use of bed clothing that is either too heavy or too light.

One specialist mentions the night caps worn by people of a previous generation. These served the useful purpose of keeping the head warm and at the same time shutting out, to a certain extent, the much more interfering noises with which persons were troubled.

Sometimes sleep is prevented merely by the fear that one won't be able to sleep. This is one of the most difficult causes of insomnia to overcome. It tends to develop a vicious circle leading to greater and greater difficulty in falling asleep.

The best advice to those who find sleeping difficult is, first of all, to develop a regular sleep habit, selecting always a certain hour for going to sleep and holding to it as much as possible; second, developing the optimum conditions for sleep and securing these in a routine manner.

Once you convince yourself that you will be able to sleep without too much trouble, you will find yourself able to fall asleep more readily, and the sleep far more refreshing than formerly.

There are hundreds of proverbs to indicate the recognition given to sleep over many centuries as one real panacea for an overstimulated, fatigued or disordered nervous system. In all the category of hygienic measures, sound sleep should probably lead the rest.

A BOOK A DAY
By BRUCE CATTON

Where the Bounty's Crew Came to Rest—Here's Last Chapter in Tale of British Mutineers

After the crew of the British warship Bounty mutinied and cast their officers adrift in an open boat in mid-Pacific, they sailed for Tahiti. Some of them went ashore there—to be caught, later, returned to England and hanged; the rest sailed over the horizon and vanished.

Nearly 20 years later an American ship captain found that they had landed on lonely Pitcairn's Island, founded a little colony there, married native women, raised families and, all but one of them, died there.

It is clear that this last chapter in the mutineers' story must have been quite as romantic and colorful as the early ones, and an even greater cloud of mystery hangs over it. Charles Nordhoff and James Norman Hall do full justice to it in "Pitcairn's Island," the last of three novels in which they retell the whole story of the Bounty.

In this book we see the mutineers establishing themselves in a regular island Eden—into which, unfortunately, there soon entered a serpent. The mutineers married the native women, established farms, lived pleasantly—but they did not get on with the natives.

Then the mutineers themselves went to pieces. Distilling their own liquor—there was a Scotchman in the crowd—they became drunken and riotous. Eventually, the native women had to establish a matriarchy.

All I need to say in praise of this book is that it is as good as "Mutiny on the Bounty" and "Men Against the Sea." Published by Little, Brown & Co., it sells for $2.00.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

Eight-to-Ten-Year-Olds Have Wide Book Choice—Basic Classics Are Included.

Real reading begins after seven, and it is at that time that reading interests may be guided. Olive Roberts Barton, in this third article of the series on children's books, lists those for children eight to ten years old.

Now we come to the children over seven. From this time on, books and more books pile up for their reading. Aside from adventure and the budding series, we can now introduce geography, in story form, information about the world and its people, certain classics (foundation books, I call them), books on natural history (flowers, birds and animals), those on construction and general information, and imaginative stories.

One thing I would like to emphasize is not to buy or borrow books over the child's head. True, it doesn't hurt upon occasion to make him or her stand on tip-toe and stretch his brain a bit. But it is better to give him things he will understand. The following are only a few of the excellent books for children of eight-to-ten:

Kipling's "Just So Stories."
Kipling's "Jungle Book."
"Dutch Twins"—Perkins.
"Italian Twins"—Perkins.
"Swiss Twins"—Perkins.
"Belgian Twins"—Perkins.
(And twins of many other countries.)

"Ride the Wind."
"Hurdy Gurdy Man."
"The Handsome Donkey."
"Story of the Round Table."
"Little Lame Prince."
"Children of the Covered Wagon."
"The Oz Books."
"Beast, Bird & Fish."
"Night With Uncle Remus."
"Wind in the Willows."
"Peter Pan and Wendy."
"The Story of Babar."
"Spunky."
"Story of a Bad Boy."
"Jack and Matt."
"Dr. Doolittle's Return."
"Broomsicks and Snow Flakes."
"The Little White Goat."
"The King's Mule."
"Grimm's Fairy Tales."
"Anderson's Fairy Tales."
"Blue Fairy Tale Book."
"Nature's Garden."
"Wild Flowers of America."
"The Listening Child"—Poetry.
"Open Door to Poetry."
"Children's Bible."
"Alice in Wonderland."
"Treasure Island."
"Adventures of Tom Sawyer."
"Ab Lincoln Grows Up."
"Can You Answer It?"
"Biography of a Grizzly."
"Wild Animals As I Know Them."
"Black Beauty."
"Barbri."
"Nicomachus and His Little Sister."
"Dilly Was Different."
"My Friend the Dog."
"The Train Book."
"The Magic Boat."
"Nobody's Boy."

than a cold. Aside from the fact that your nose gets red and your eyes look swollen, you'll notice yellowness and a dragged-down appearance. If you value your beauty as well as your health, better take special care not to get a cold. You need an adequate amount of sleep, for instance. When you feel the slightest soreness in your throat or a heavy, uncomfortable feeling in your nose and head, plan to get nine hours sleep each night for a week. Drink ten glasses of water a day and watch your diet. Naturally, it's a good idea to see your doctor.

Don't forget to take some exercise. If you don't walk, ride or go to a gymnasium regularly, do setting-up exercises in the morning. They stimulate circulation and help the digestive tract to function properly.

If you take a warm bath in the morning, finish with a cold shower. Wear warm clothes, of course, but be sure they're loose and comfortable. Coat sleeves that are too tight, a dress with an uncomfortable neckline and gloves that pinch the hands can make you more tired than you realize. Get plenty of fresh air during the day and sleep with the windows open at night. However, don't let air from the open window blow directly on your head. If you can't move the bed away from the window, use a screen or a curtain.

The Claw of the Forgotten Murder

By CARLETON KENDRAKE
© 1934 H.E.A. Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
When CHARLES MORDEN, reporter for The Blade, is found dead DAN BLEEKER, publisher, employs SIDNEY GRIFF, famous criminologist, to solve the murder. MORDEN had been investigating the affairs of FRANK B. CATHAY, wealthy and prominent, following the arrest of an importer claiming to be CATHAY and accompanied by a girl called MARY BRIGGS.

The day following MORDEN's death CATHAY dies of poisoning. GRIFF learns MORDEN had visited the apartment of ALICE LORTON, pretty and unemployed. He confronts ALICE with KENNETH BOONE, accuses the pair of killing MORDEN, and they are arrested. MRS. BLANCHETTE MALONE, for whom MRS. CATHAY and CATHAY, RACINE, detective in her employ, have been searching, is located but refuses to talk.

GRIFF and BLEEKER go to the hotel where MARY BRIGGS, now known as Stella Mockley, is staying. They find CHARLES FISHER, CATHAY's lawyer, there. FISHER questions the girl.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
FISHER'S voice rose beligerently. "Go on," he said. "Come clean—who was that friend?"

"All I know," the girl said, "is that it was someone who was called Frank."

"You're lying," FISHER told her. "You know more than that. Who was that friend?"

"Just Frank."

Her eyes refused to meet those of the attorney.

"Who . . . was . . . that . . . friend?" FISHER said with slow insistence.

She raised her eyes to his, said desperately, "I can tell you this much, but he told me that he'd had me and kill me if I ever told anyone."

"Never mind that," FISHER said. "What is it you're going to tell me?"

"I can tell you," she said, "that Frank lived at Riverview."

"That he lived in Riverview?"

"Yes."

"How do you know?"

"Because of the telephone calls." "What telephone calls?" "A telephone call that the man put through from my room here in the hotel."

Huge Screen Cast in Story of Sea

"The Captain Hates the Sea" at Saenger Thursday and Friday

The screen version of the famous Wallace Smith novel, "The Captain Hates the Sea," is the attraction on the bill at the Saenger Thursday and Friday.

When it first appeared in novel form, the story attracted almost international attention because of its unique plot and the wealth of true-to-life characterization it contained. It is a story of various passengers on an ocean-going steamship, among whom are a crook fleeing with a quarter of a million dollars worth of stolen securities, a girl accomplice, a detective on the trail of the pair, a newspaperman who is trying to get a motion picture star with whom he is in love; a married couple who detect each other; and a captain who hates the sea which provides him with a livelihood.

In the cast are Victor McLaglen, John Gilbert, Walter Connolly, Alison Skipworth, Wynne Gibson, Helen Vinson, Tala Birel, Donald Meek, John Errol, Walter Catlett, Claude Gillings, Emory Fitzroy, Arthur Treacher, Akim Tamiroff, Louis Alberni, James Blakeley, The Three Stooges, and the recent importation from the New York stage, Fred Keating.

Learn From Doctors How to Treat Colds

Four Points to Remember

As colds cause more loss of time and money than any other disease, every one should learn what modern medical science teaches as to their proper treatment. Your doctor has the following objectives:

First—To relieve the congestion in the nose and throat, thus aborting, or lightening the attack and relieving the symptoms caused by the congestion.—Calotabs, the improved calomel compound tablets, accomplish this by attracting the excess blood to the bowels.

Second—To help the kidneys wash out of the blood the cold-poisons which cause the chilly sensation, feverishness, aches, and mean feeling.—Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, assisting them in ridding the blood of the poisons.

Third—To expel the germ-laden mucus and toxines from the bowels, thus preventing their absorption into the blood.—Calotabs accomplish this thoroughly.

Fourth—To keep the bile of the liver flowing freely through and out of the intestines, thus relieving the biliousness and constipation, which attend and aggravate a cold. As Calotabs contain calomel, they promote the flow of bile.

Thus, Calotabs meet these four important objectives of medical treatment for colds. One or two Calotabs at bed time, with a glass of sweet milk or water, is usually sufficient, but should be repeated the third or fifth night if needed. The milk tones down the action, making it milder, if desired.

Why risk doubtful or make-up remedies? Get a family package of Calotabs containing full directions; only twenty-five cents; trial package ten cents, at your dealer's. (Adv.)

WATCH KIDNEYS SAME AS BOWELS

Wash Out Your 79,200 Feet of Kidney Tubes

Your bowels contain only 27 feet of intestines, yet your kidneys contain nearly 10 million tiny tubes or filters which would measure 79,200 feet if laid end to end. Therefore, it is just as important to watch the kidneys as the bowels. Kidneys are working all the time and are Nature's chief way of taking the acids and poisonous waste out of the blood.

Healthy persons pass 3 pints a day thru the bladder which contains nearly 4 pounds of waste matter. If you pass less than this amount, your 79,200 feet of kidney tubes may be clogged with poisonous waste. This is the danger signal and may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of appetite, irritability, nervousness, hunches, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

Kidneys should be watched closely and need cleaning out the same as bowels. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS, an old prescription, which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out your 79,200 feet of kidney tubes.

But don't take chances with strong drugs and so-called "kidney cures" which claim to get you up in 15 minutes. Your common sense will tell you that this is impossible. Treatments of this nature may seriously harm and irritate delicate tissues. Instead, DOAN'S PILLS, the old reliable relief that contains no "drugs" or habit-forming drugs. Be sure you get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist.

IF YOUR BREATH HAS A SMELL YOU CAN'T FEEL WELL

When we eat too much, our food decays in our stomachs and we feel like a whiff of decay coming out of our mouth and call it bad breath. We feel the poison of this decay as it enters our blood. Your common sense will tell you that this is impossible. What makes the food decay in the bowels? Well, when we eat too much, our bile juice can't digest it. What is the bile juice? It is the most vital digestive juice in our body. Unless 2 pints of it are flowing from our liver into our bowels every day, our movements get hard and constipated and 2% of our food decays in our 28 feet of bowels. This decay sends poisons all over our body every six minutes.

When our friends smell our bad breath (but we don't) and we feel like a whiff of decay coming out of our mouth, don't use a mouthwash or take a laxative. Get at the cause. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills which gently start the flow of your bile juice. But if "something better" is offered you, don't buy it, for it may be a cheap (cheap!) but it will loosen teeth, gripes and scalds the rectum in many people. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name and get what you ask for—25¢. ©1934 C.M.C.

Society
November has, in this country, an undeserved reputation for bad weather, based upon misfit notions imported from the Old World.

Hood may not have libeled the British climate when he wrote:
No warmth, no cheerfulness, no healthful ease,
No comfortable feel in any member,
No shade, no shine, no butterflies, no bees,
No fruits, no flowers, no leaves, no birds—No-ember.—Selected.

The November meeting of the John Chis. Haynes read the minutes of the previous meeting and Mrs. J. M. Houston treasurer gave her report.
The program was in celebration of mistle day, and Mrs. Charles Haynes led her program with a splendid presentation of the main facts leading up to the World War and told of the part taken by each participating country. Miss Mamie Twitchell gave an outstanding discussion of the present European situation, dwelling on the rapid changes being made in that situation from day to day closing her remarks with a beautiful plea for a permanent amity. Guests other than chapter members enjoying this delightful and instructive meeting were Mrs. T. W. Brodgen who brought greetings from the Ponce de Leon chapter in Winter Haven, Fla.; Mrs. E. C. Rule, Mrs. John P. Vesey, Dr. Elta Champlin, Mrs. Williams of Hot Springs and Mrs. Sid Henry. Mrs. J. Houston and Miss Hattie Anne Field were announced as hostesses for the Christmas and Ellis Island meeting, December 12.
Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Wilhoit and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McCulley have as guests, Dr. and Mrs. Stephen A. Douglas of Hatton, Ark.
Mrs. L. W. Young has returned from several days visit in Little Rock.
Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dabbs formerly of Hope, now of Little Rock were Tuesday night guests of Mrs. Henry H. Stuart.
The Hope Garden Club will hold their November meeting at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Champlin home on South Elm street.
Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Houston and daughter, Martha and Mrs. J. W. Anderson left Thursday to spend the week end with relatives and friends in New Albany, Ind.
Archdeacon Burke of Marianna will hold services at St. Mark's Episcopal church at 7 o'clock Thursday evening and communion services at 7:30 o'clock Friday morning.
Mrs. L. S. Dozier, Mrs. Freeman Shaler, Mrs. Henry Edwards and Mrs. John Milburn of Gurdon were Wednesday shoppers in the city.
Mr. and Mrs. R. M. LaGrone will have week end guests, Mrs. Emilie Trebing of Little Rock, president of the Arkansas Federation of Music clubs, Mrs. Surrey Gilliam of El Dorado and Mrs. T. F. Hughes of Texarkana.
Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Milam have as house guests, their mothers, Mrs. B. F. Milam of Muskogee, Okla., and Mrs. J. L. Burns of Idabel, Okla.
Mrs. J. O. Milam and her guests, Mrs. B. F. Milam and Mrs. J. L. Burns and Mrs. Garret Story were Wednesday shoppers in the city.

A cartoon panel from "The Beany & Ted Show". It depicts three characters in a room where money is falling all around them. On the left, a woman with short blonde hair and glasses, wearing a dark dress, looks down at the money. In the center, a man with a large nose and a checkered shirt is walking away while talking. On the right, another man with a pompadour hairstyle and a patterned jacket sits on a chair, looking towards the others.

Five Little Dionnes Suddenly Become Ten as Doll Arrives for Each

What's this? Ten little Dionnes instead of the famous five? But look a little closer, and you'll see that five of the figures above are beautiful life-sized dolls, one of which was sent to each of the famous quintuplets.

So you see they didn't have to wait until Christmas to get "twin sisters" that would gladden the heart of any little girl. Santa Claus came early to the little house at Corbeil, Ontario.

Bring Tall Family Tree to Films

If family trees are any help in the Hollywood climb, these Atlanta, Ga., twin debutantes should go high and far. Margaret and Mary Sage are in the film capital, determined to crash the pictures. They're daughters of the Sage III, construction firm head, granddaughters of the Southern Pacific railroad builder, grandnieces of Russell Sage, financial power of the 90's, and great-grandnieces of Eli Yale, founder of Yale University.

Sizing Up Need For New Laws

A New Deal task of major importance has been given Frank P. Graham, University of North Carolina president, above. He is chairman of the committee named by President Roosevelt to work with the administration's economic security group in drafting a legislative program to be placed before the coming Congress.

France's Bid for Supremacy Among Liners

Work is being rushed at St. Nazaire, France, to complete the new 75,000-ton French liner Normandie, which will be the largest ship afloat until its British rival, the Queen Mary, takes to the high seas. How nearly ready for its maiden voyage the Normandie is can be judged from this picture, just arrived in America. Dangling overhead is the scaffolding on which workers ready the hull for its final coat of glistening paint. Even the huge stacks seem to have reached their topmost height.

Undergoes Delicate Brain Operation

Georgia Coleman, 22, Los Angeles Olympic women's diving champion, has undergone a delicate brain operation in a Boston hospital. Georgia, now Mrs. Roof Gilson, has been suffering some time from an injury to her pituitary gland, after a diving accident. Her condition is "as well as could be expected."

Credit to France

Are you worked up about a French debt? Well, here's son heart-interest on it, just arrived at New York in the person of Kelly Gallian, vivacious French film star, the latest Hollywood recruit from abroad. You got give France credit!

Winning a Huey Long Coloneley

If U. S. Senator Huey Long keeps his promise, the play pictured here won a coloneley for Burt Yates, halfback on the Louisiana State University team, who carried the ball over the line for the only score of the game against Georgetown U. in Washington, D. C., last night, following his policy of rewarding gridiron heroes of his adopted alma mater, announced he would make every touchdown scorer a colonel in the Louisiana National Guard.

Huge Gold Shipment Completed Under Floodlights

In the glare of floodlights illuminating the front of the San Francisco mint at the right, the last of a series of shipments was made by night in the transfer of three-quarters of a billion dollars in gold to the Denver mint. Here you see the string of armored trucks carrying the bullion, flanked by autos containing heavily-armed guards, about to leave for the railroad yards to put the gold on trains for Denver.

ANN HOLLISTER, pretty orphan, finds it necessary to dispose of the family home to pay creditors. She goes job-hunting, falls in love with an artist and promptly runs away from him to marry Peter Kendall, the season's most eligible young bachelor.

VALERIA BENNETT plots to break up this "friendly marriage." And Ann, again heart-broken, runs away from Peter. Sarah, loyal friend, almost ruins her own romance, trying to aid him.

Untangling the lives of these three persons makes the thrilling plot of this new serial—starting soon in this newspaper. Here's a novel crammed full of youthful romantic adventure.

MURDER IS LEAST

The federal enforcement machinery is in the hands of the United States attorney general, Mr. Bailey said. "If all peace officers were dependent for continuation of their jobs upon their efforts in investigating crime and enforcing the law, a far more efficient organization would result, and a change in the public attitude toward law enforcement might be hoped for," he added.

Another advantage of centralized responsibility for law enforcement would be the opportunity for uniform and strict attention to small infractions of the law, Mr. Bailey said. "Criminals who find it possible and comparatively easy to evade punishment for small offenses in their early experience will branch out into larger fields of crime because they believe it will be equally easy to escape punishment."

U. S. Agent Explains

E. E. Conroy, agent in charge of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice here, said that crime statistics issued by the Washington office of the bureau are compiled from voluntary reports furnished by peace officers throughout the country. Forms prepared by the bureau list seven major crimes and provide for listing of these under the separate headings of offenses and arrests. Under an elaborate card index system operated in the Washington office these are classified by population, education, race, sex and other subdivisions so that the prevalence and type of crime reported in any one section of the country during a given period may be ascertained within a short time. Mr. Conroy said that the ac-

Mellon Bank Is Attacked by U. S.

Fraudulent Evasion of Income Tax in 1930 is Charged

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh, known as a Mellon institution, Wednesday charged by the government with filing a false and fraudulent income tax return for 1930 in a tax action demanding a $218,333 payment plus a 50 per cent penalty.

The government listed eight transactions in 1931 as evidence that all were "a part of a false and fraudulent course of conduct on the part of said Union Trust Company." Among the 1931 transactions were two "accommodation" deals with Andrew W. Mellon, former secretary of the Treasury, whom the government has charged with income tax frauds. Officials said the Union Trust action was the first fraud case brought against an institution. The fraud charge was made in an answer Wednesday before the Board of Tax Appeals to the trust company's denial of an additional assessment of $218,333 levied against the Pittsburgh concern during the Hoover administration. With addition of the fraud allegation went the Treasury's claim for a 50 per cent penalty.

The Treasury, through Robert H. Jackson, lawyer for the Internal Revenue Bureau, said that in 1930, with a net income approximating $3,500,000, the Union Trust Company "devised a scheme to conduct a fictitious sale and repurchase of certain securities for the purpose of creating an appearance of a loss thereon and to report the same to the government as a real loss for the purpose of deceiving the government and thereby evading its income tax liability."

The scheme referred to was the sale of securities to the Union Savings Bank in form only. The Treasury said the savings bank was 98 per cent owned by the trust company, that H. C. McDowd, $130,000-a-year president of the Union Trust, served without added compensation as president of the savings bank and that R. B. Mellon was vice president of both institutions.

WALLACE NEUTRAL

would be "ruination." Opinion in the South is sharply divided on the crop control act. Wednesday there were protests over Cobb's statement and queries as to whether he represented the AAA's attitude.

In response to questions at his press conference as to whether Cobb spoke for him, Wallace smiled and parried the question with: "I suspect that he was speaking in the same capacity as Oscar Johnson sometimes does."

Johnston is a Scott (Miss.) planter and head of the AAA's cotton pool. He has opposed the Bankhead bill in the past and Wallace plainly inferred that neither Johnston nor Cobb spoke for him.

Later, Wallace said that "it is up to the Southern cotton farmers to vote as they please, and I don't think we should attempt to interfere." He felt he should not express his personal opinion on the Bankhead bill, although he opposed it last year.

"I may have changed my mind meanwhile," he said.

HERE AND THERE

The Tennessee Valley Authority is charged with responsibility to find a new and cheaper source of electrical energy for all the people.

It does not necessarily mean that the government is going to take over all private power companies.

But they may have to reorganize and "get right" with the people.

And if the Roosevelt government never does more than this it will stand as the greatest social accomplishment of any American administration in modern times.

Burial Friday for Tennessee Child

Prosecutor Without Clues in Distelhurst Abduction and Murder

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—(AP)—As law-enforcement agencies attempted to solve the abduction and murder of 6-year-old Dorothy Ann Distelhurst, funeral services Thursday were tentatively set for Friday.

Attorney General J. Carlton Loefer said he had no tangible facts on which to base a satisfactory conclusion about the crime.

The funeral will be held Friday, as Lloyd Hamilton, Mrs. Distelhurst's brother, returns home Thursday night from New York.

grade crossings.

As a longer term possibility, he mentioned a substantial volume of non-federal projects approved by PWA and awaiting only additional funds.

Beyond these he pictured three other "great dreams" of public improvement: A transcontinental super-highway, better housing for the nation, and the conservation of soil and water resources by means of a program to prevent flood, drought and erosion.

"A public works program on some such basis," he asserted, "could absorb the energies of all our people on a self-respecting basis in widespread economic activity."

He conceded that relief must be provided until national economy can be so guided as to end unemployment.

"But the pressing problem of today," he declared, "is to provide employment which will remove the necessity for relief. Confessedly relief is a palliative. In itself it cannot induce recovery."

"And no one can reasonably contend that the standard of living in this country is so high that we can afford to employ the employed portion of our people permanently to support the unemployed in idleness or require the employed portion permanently to divide their work with the unemployed."

WHOLE COURSE OF

secondary power.

At present there is no market for such a vast amount of power, but the potential market is unlimited. For instance, heating the homes of the people of the valley by electricity would consume an enormous amount of power.

One of the reasons for building the town of Norris was to experiment in this very thing; to see if houses could be heated by electricity at a cost low enough for the average income of a skilled worker.

What this might do to the already groggy coal industry is another matter.

Nor is there any way of knowing now how the project will pay out. Revenue from power is fairly tangible, but how can you figure the return from reforestation and soil erosion?

Land reclamation is part of a national program of planned economy and cannot be put on a cash and carry basis. The same is true of other phases of the TVA program.

New Deal Laboratory

Much that the TVA is doing is in the nature of experiment which, if successful, will benefit the whole country. It is generally understood in Washington that the Tennessee Valley is being used as a laboratory for trying out some of the New Deal experiments.

For example, soil erosion work. At check dams were built. It is being used throughout the country. But dams, especially those built of stone, are costly and take a lot of time to build.

TVA soil erosion experts have experimented with different methods until now they have found the best and least expensive way. It consists of plowing in all but the main gully on a hillside until they are level, seeding them with grass, then covering them with straw matting to keep the rains from washing out the seeds and the new fills.

The main gully acts as a drain for the entire hillside, and dams are built in it to check the flow of the water, thereby preventing deepening of the gully.

Sell Savings Revelation

This method has been in use for the last six months and seems to be a success. It was a revelation to foresters and conservationists who attended a meeting of the American Forestry Association here recently and they predicted its use would spread over the whole country.

Housing quarters for Norris Dam workers cost twice as much as the ordinary kind of construction camp would have cost. Instead of the usual temporary barracks, there was built the model town of Norris.

Norris offers an experiment in low-cost housing. About half the houses in Norris are of this type. They are built of blocks made of cinders and cement. The federal government right now is spending millions of dollars on housing and the experiment at Norris is comparatively small.

The fertilizer program is an experiment which, if successful, will pay out handsomely to farmers, but not to the government. Much of the TVA work is like that.
